

Head and Neck restraints required by June 2, 2008

Posted by Litespeeds - 01 May 2008 02:09

The only big change is the requirement for SFI 38.1 certified Head and Neck restraints as of June 2, 2008.

This is in section 15.17.8 Page 82 of the PDF file.

Also included is a link to a list of SFI 38.1 certified devices that will satisfy the requirement.

This is coming up faster than I realized. So has anyone found the best deals for the Hans or other required devices? If the cheapest price is $695, then I guess with the SafeRacer discount of 10%, I can get it for $625.50 shipped.

Is there any better pricing out there? What if we used our contingency money to purchase it from CDOC, but the cheapest one they sell is $895.

even though they dont list the sport hans CDOC does carry that model and you can use your cdoci money. www.DartAuto.com is also selling the device.

NASA just moved the requirement date to July 2nd 2008 due to the supply and demand backorders.

Just got my HANS Sport from CDOC today. Was able to use my contingency money too. This place ROCKS.
